A RETURN TO THE LAND

AUTHOR

ELIZABETH G. M.
RICHIE AKA DU'TSU

Short Description:

Old Photographs And Mirthful Text Tell The Uniquely Stirring Story Of Two Hearty, Nature-Loving Souls Who, In 1979, Broke With Their Mainstream Lifestyles And Bought A Rugged Piece Of Property In The Forested Hills Of West Virginia.

Short Bio:

Elizabeth Richie Aka Du'Tsu "Spring Frog" I Grew Up Running Free, Playing In The Lush Forests, Cornfields And Meadows Of The Susquehanna River Valley Of Central Pennsylvania. One Of My Favorite Haunts Was "The Swamp" Where Catching (And Releasing) Frogs, Climbing Trees And Building Forts With The Neighborhood "Gang" Was Often The Order Of The Day. My Elementary School Was Within Walking Distance And Each Day When I Passed My Grandfather's House On The Way To School, I Waved To Him As He Stood Waiting In His Living Room Window. It Was America At Its Best.

Much Of My "Formative" Years Was Spent In The "Great Outdoors" -Long Cold Winters With Deep Snows, Igloos, Shoveling And Ice Skating-Long Warm Summers With Lazy Days At "The Pool" -Girl Scout Camps On The Loyalsock Creek Talking Philosophy With The Other Girls And Jolly Counselors-Competitive Swimming, Summer And Winter, Indoors And Out; Softball, Field Hockey-Family Visits To The Smokey Mountains Of North Carolina To Visit Cousins-Vacations At The Beach. As I Grew Older, I Loved To Walk My Part Samoyed Dog Out By The Small Airport And Sing My Lungs Out.
